

Dear colleague,

First of all, we wish you all a warm and inspiring new year, with exciting projects and new ideas. Our first newsletter of 2023 contains a call for proposals for the Brazilian História da Historiografia, as well as a new review we recently published on our website. As usual, we also share our list with books that are up for review. If you would like to review one, do not hesitate to contact us!

---

Call for contributions Special Issue História da Historiografia

História da Historiografia, a Brazilian journal specializing in the theory of history, the history of historiography, intellectual history, and related areas, invites researchers to submit special issue proposals. Proposals for publication in 2024 must be submitted by March 1st, 2023, using the following form: <https://forms.gle/SG2qtaTcsQ8keuCW6>. We will publish the results on March 15th.

Proposals can be submitted in Portuguese, English or Spanish and should include the following information:

- Name and institutional affiliation of two to four guest editors, at least one of which must be from a teaching and/or research institution located outside Brazil;
- Short title (maximum 7 words);
- A presentation of the proposal, indicating the context from which the proposal emerged;
- A statement of relevance, containing information on why the theme fits the scope of História da Historiografia.

If you have any questions, please contact us by email: historiadahistoriografia@hotmail.com

---

Reviews

We are happy to announce that we have published one new review on our website:

- Review by Roberto Gronda about Jonas Ahlskog (2021). The Primacy of Method on Historical Research. Philosophy of History and the Perspective of Meaning. London and New York: Routledge, 2021. Find the review here.

We also updated our to review list, and are looking for reviewers for the following books:

- Shahzad Bashir (2022). A New Vision for Islamic Pasts and Futures, Cambridge (Mass.): MIT Press. Open Access. <https://islamic-pasts-futures.org/>
- James M. Banner (2021). The Ever-Changing Past. Why All History Is Revisionist History. New Haven: Yale University Press.
- Stefan Berger and Philipp Müller (eds.) (2022). Dynamics of émigration. Émigré Scholars and the Production of Historical Knowledge in the 20th Century. Making Sense of History 43. New York: Berghahn Books.
- Stefan Berger, Nicola Brauch and Chris Lorenz (eds.) (2021). Analysing Historical Narratives. On Academic, Popular and Educational Framings of the Past. Making Sense of History 41. New York: Berghahn Books.
- Mario Carretero, Brady Wagoner, and Everardo Perez-Manjarrez (eds.) (2022). Historical Reenactment: New Ways of Experiencing History. Making Sense of History 44. New York: Berghahn Books.
- Quentin Deluermoz and Pierre Singaravélou (2021). A Past of Possibilities: A History of What Could Have Been. Translated by Stephen W. Sawyer. New Haven: Yale University Press.
- David Stefan Doddington and Enrico Dal Lago (eds.) (2022). Writing the History of Slavery. Writing History. London/New York: Bloomsbury Academic.
- Stefan Fisher-Høyrem (2022). Rethinking Secular Time in Victorian England. Histories of the Sacred and Secular, 1700-2000. Cham: Palgrave Macmillan.
- Maria Gever (2021). Een ecologische breukervaring? Corona en historisch besef / An ecological rupture? Corona and historical consciousness. Hilversum: Verloren.
- Herman Paul (2022). Historians' Virtues: From Antiquity to the Twenty-First Century. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Rafael Verbuyst (2022). Khoisan consciousness: An ethnography of emic histories and indigenous revivalism in post-apartheid Cape Town, Leiden: Brill.
- Edward Q. Wang, Michihiro Okamoto, Li Longguo (eds.) (2022). Western Historiography in Asia: Circulation, Critique and Comparison. Berlin: Walter de Gruyter.
- Elia Zaru (2022). Crisi della modernità. Storia, teorie e dibattiti (1979-2020). Pisa: Editione ETS.
- Natan Elgabsi and Bennett Gilbert (eds.) Ethics and Time in the Philosophy of History: A Cross-Cultural Approach (London: Bloomsbury, 2023).
- Samman, Aman (2019). History in Financial Times. Stanford: Stanford University Press.

INTH is always looking for new reviews of books about theory and history. If you would like to review a new title, would like to submit a book for review, or have any other ideas or questions regarding the INTH book reviews, please get in touch using our contact form (under 'Category', choose 'Request for reviewing a publication'). We specifically would like to encourage you to suggest new books on the theory of history that have recently been published in Spanish, Portuguese, French or German to help balance the Anglophone bias.

Looking forward to see you soon!

Kind regards,

The INTH team

